From Fr. Jim . . .

Labor Day: Labor Day is the unofficial end to summer. Many schools are back in session and many more will be back in session soon. Normally most people have taken their vacations and the normal lull in activity and meetings etc. is no more. The pandemic continues to change things quite a bit and challenges us to proceed with caution so people can return to work and school.

So, this Labor Day we want to continue being grateful to first responders, police, fire, doctors, nurses, medics, nursing home facilities and all those who are in the trenches still fighting the virus and working diligently to find a cure. Let's not forget the lab technicians and those responsible for developing vaccines. Those who work in grocery stores and food pantries, we honor your work this Labor Day too, and with the others, are so grateful to you for the sacrifices you make to keep us all safe and healthy and fed. Thank you for who you are and what you do. Our appreciation extends to all who work as volunteers to help others in need during this time and all those who generously share the fruit of their labors as benefactors to organizations and churches in need. Also, we never want to take the work of teachers and school administrators for granted. We are so grateful for your skills and dedication and for "stepping-it-up" to such a high level to open our schools during this second round of the pandemic.

This Labor Day is a good time for praying in thanksgiving for the opportunity to work and with our work, to help make the world a better place to live. We want to pray for the gift of being able to share in God's creative energies with the work that we are capable of doing. We want to accept God's invitation to use our labor to also build the kingdom of God on earth. We ask for the strength and the courage and the generosity to please not only our bosses with our work but also God.

We give thanks for the privilege to work and for all the benefits that a worker deserves and needs – safe and healthy environment; right to form unions, vacation time, health benefits, just wage and salary, balanced work schedule and benefits for overtime and more. We pray for those who are out of work and who are looking for work. We pray for our economy and for our leaders and government who are working hard to create more jobs and to keep people working. We pray for both union and non-union labor. For what else about our work and the work of our cities, neighborhoods, families, and church do we want to pray as we celebrate this holiday?

Bless the work of our hands, O Lord. Bless the work of our hands. May all that we do be pleasing and honorable in your sight. Amen. Alleluia! Happy Labor Day, everyone!

"What is the secret of a blessed life, a happy life? Recognizing Jesus as the living God. For it is not important to know that Jesus was great in history. What matters is the place I give him in my life." ~~ Pope Francis
